GROUP OF 144 AMERICAN AIR FIGHTERS FLY 44,510 MILES

By Fred S. Ferguson.

With the Americans West of Verdun, Oct. 1.—A group of 144 American airplanes has flown 44,510 miles—equal to traveling almost twice around the earth. In the struggle 371 flying hours have been crowded into two days.

Such flying in the face of constant fire, is an indication of the wonderful fighting, observing and bombing work the Americans are doing.

Tons of explosive are being dropped on Mezeris, the key to the whole German communication system in this region, as well as on Charville, Grandpre and Stain. All hangars and supply centers are being showered with bombs. Enemy troops are bombed and machine gunned in the roads. Observation balloons are harassed and shot down. The air has been swept practically clean of boche planes. Pursuit planes, working in big groups, participated in "shock action" flights, in which 20 or 30 are involved. Near Chapentry, eight boche planes were brought down in a single fight Saturday. In another twenty minute flight seven boches were sent whirling to the ground. One group of American aviators has 35 victories to its credit in three days' work.

A group of 15 bombing planes, en route to the rear of German lines in broad daylight, encountered a superior enemy force. Flying in close formation they Americans dropped all their bombs to lighten their machines and make them maneuver more readily. Then they rushed at the Germans, shooting down two and driving off the remainder. They returned for a new load of bombs, and flew back over the same course they had first taken.

Another group of bombers sighted some enemy troops marching along a road to reinforce the line where the French were attacking on the American left. They used up all their bombs on the column, then flew low and poured machine gun fire into the survivors. The killed and wounded a great number, scattering the others.

A flotilla of pursuit drove some German artillerymen from their batteries with machine gun fire.

One American plane took fire. The observer crawled out on the wing. The pilot brought the machine safely to the ground.

Enemy balloons are dived on without a shot being fired, until the American airman is within thirty yards of his target.

Lieutenant Luke has 14 balloons to his credit since the start of St. Mihiel attack. Eleven of these are officially confirmed. The others have been accredited to him.

Fighting starts at dawn every day and does not end until after dark. The machines leave the land with the aid of flares and searching lights.

Night balloon shooting is the newest sport. Our men always get two or three. Observers have been flying as low as fifty meters, working in conjunction with the infantry. This work is being carried out by the greatest American air force yet concentrated.

In the beginning the boche outnumbered us, three to two, but aggressiveness has kept the enemy constantly on the defensive behind his own lines. His losses have been so heavy and the Americans so slight, that even his original numerical superiority is now practically wiped out.

AND STILL THEY POUR IN HOUR LY—MORE GERMAN PRISONERS

British taking German prisoners to rear.

At any hour of the day one can witness this scene behind the battle line. The picture shows just one of the many "bags" of German prisoners. This group would make an entire company. The captives are being brought into the prison camp in the rear of the lines by British cavalrymen. American,

Anzac and British soldiers are watching the procession. On the right are hundreds of other Hun prisoners watching their comrades file in.

DOUBLE MENACE NOW FACES THE KAISER'S ARMIES

The Anglo-Belgian drive in Flanders is developing a double menace to the Germans. They face the loss of their submarine base at Ostend, Zeebrugge and Bruges, and the railway and industrial centers of Lille, Roubaix and Tourcoing.

Unusually rapid progress has been made in this region, despite the most stubborn resistance. The fighting front now extends from Dixmude southward to the region of La Basse, a distance of nearly 50 miles.

A penetration of more than 8 miles has been made.

The Anglo-French-American attack in the Quentin region, which also embraces a front of about fifty miles, has given the British virtual control of Cambrai, while the British and French have more than half encircled St. Quentin. The great coal center of Douai also is in danger, the British having passed beyond it on the south.

The Americans, in this region, are fighting along the St. Quentin and Escaut Canale, astride LeCatelet.

The German resistance on the Rheims and Verdun front appears to be centering against the Americans in the Argonne region. The American progress there is very slow, owing to the influx of continuous enemy reinforcements which are launching counter-attack after counter-attack.

The French, however, are operating on the American left, and have made notable progress, carrying their lines north of Monthois, a total advance of nearly ten miles.

Between the Ailette and the Vesle the French continue their progress along the Chemin Des Dames and to the southward, drawing nearer both to Laon and Croaune.

Capture of 10,000 additional prisoners in Palestine, announced by General Allenby, has brought the total of Turkish prisoners to 60,000. This new bag was rounded up east of the Jordan, below Amman.

Re-organization of the lines in the Balkans are expected to follow rapidly Bulgaria's withdrawal from the war. The Germans are reported to be pouring great numbers of reinforcements from Rumania into southern Serbia. It is believed the allies will push rapidly northward to meet this army, utilizing the Bulgarian railways if necessary.

The Austrian war office has admitted the withdrawal of its line northward, west of Lake Ochrida, which formed the left flank of the allied drive in America. A big retirement of the Austrians along the whole Albanian front, is looked for, because of the danger of the flanking operations resulting from extension of the allied lines into Serbia.

RECORD BROKEN

Washington, Oct. 1.—Breaking all records for speed America's third and greatest draft lottery ended at eight o'clock this morning, after proceeding without pause for twenty hours. Working in shifts throughout the night the officers in charge reached a speed of 18 numbers listed every minute in the closing hours. The speed made, however, indicated that the master lists will be ready for mailing, late today, as the government printing office kept pace with the capsule pluckers.

TURKEY MAY BE NEXT TO FALL BEFORE ALLIES

BY WEBB MILLER

Paris, Oct. 1.—Effects of the Bulgarian armistice upon Austria and Turkey will probably soon be noticeable, by the elimination of Bulgaria. The immediate result is expected by many to be a separate peace with Turkey, due to the severance of its communications with Germany.

The haste with which Bulgaria signed the convention indicated the nation's readiness to concede every allied demand. Considering Bulgaria's past record, the allies were in no mood to let her off on easy terms.

They demanded every concession consistent with justice.

Announcement of Bulgaria's downfall caused a wild outburst of jubilation on the Paris Bourse.

The United States leaned authoritatively that at present there will be no separate peace with Bulgaria, and no political decisions affecting that country's future will be taken. Only military measures follow the signing of the armistice.

"The Bulgarians are beaten. That explains and clarifies the situation at present," one authority said. "The victorious advance of the allies toward Uskub led the Bulgarians to throw in their arms with such sudden fervor. Before hostilities ceased yesterday noon, even German reinforcements were unable to prevent capture of many prisoners and immense booty."

PERSHING PRAISES THE COMFORT KITS

Every man who goes to the trenches carries a comfort kit. Over and above its practical use, the comfort kit serves to carry a message of cordial good will to the man in the trench, and the man on the ship from the nation that sent him there.

Major General Pershing, in speaking of the kits sent to his men in Mexico by the Red Cross, said: "These things make the soldier remember that the people at home are behind him. You do not know how much that will mean to them who are going abroad. You do not know how much that means to any soldier who is over there carrying the flag of his country."

COMPLETE COLLAPSE OF GERMANY'S BALKAN POLICY IS APPROACHING

Washington, Oct. 1.—Russian and Rumanian diplomats here today foresaw the complete collapse of Germany's policy in the Balkans and in the east.

The signing of the armistice by Bulgaria on the terms laid down by the allies was interpreted by officials at the Russian embassy as the resumption in power in Bulgaria by the Russophile group of Bulgarian statesmen, represented by Premier Malinoff. This, it was declared, would prove in the near future, a powerful stimulant to the efforts of the revolutionary democracy of Russia to restore Russia's unity and independence.

The stimulant, Russian officials pointed out, would be both military and political. The virtual exit of Bul-

JAMES F. TRADER FORMER XENIAN PASSES BEYOND

James F. Trader, a member of one of Xenia's oldest families, and formerly a leading resident of this city, died at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at his home in Cincinnati, following invalidism of several years duration.

His brother, Attorney W. F. Trader of this city, who was notified of his critical condition, was on his way to Cincinnati, when his relative passed away.

Mr. Trader was a son of the late Alfred and Lucinda Robinson Trader of this city and he was born and reared here, where his father was for years president of the old Xenia National Bank. He married Miss Elizabeth Duckworth, sister of George Duckworth, a prominent Cincinnati, whose name was borne by the celebrated Duckworth club, of the Queen City. Miss Duckworth came to this city to attend college, and it was here that Mr. Trader met her, their marriage following. She has also been an invalid for several years and confined to her bed, but is now a little improved, and able to sit up in her room.

Mr. Trader was in the hardware business in this city, conducting a store where the Babb store is now situated. He sold out his business interest in Xenia and bought the Barret Oil Mill at Spring Valley, which he operated for a time before going to Cincinnati, about 22 years ago. He was in the insurance business in the Queen City many years, and the family home is in Avondale.

Beside his widow, Mr. Trader leaves four daughters, the Misses Effie Georgia, Florence and Louise.

The Misses Georgia and Florence operated the famous Cloverbrook Home for the Blind, into which they converted the old home of the Misses Phoebe and Alice Cary, the poets, on College Hill, several years ago. Her sister and constant companion, Miss Florence, takes charge of the management of the Home, and the beautiful devotion which exists between the sisters is noted among all their friends.

START A LITTLE FAMILY OF BABY LIBERTY BONDS

Don't disdain the baby bond. Don't hesitate to buy it because it is small. Don't disown it because it doesn't make as big a showing as your neighbor's may. Don't be ashamed to admit that you have it. Buy another; two or three more. Start a happy little family of baby bonds. Pretty soon you'll be proud of them.

For the baby bond has a kick like a Missouri mule.

And part of the kick in every baby bond that is bought will land upon the baby bayoneting Boches. In the aggregate it will play a big part in hurrying the end of the war. It will help humble the Hun; blaze the trail to Berlin; avenge the atrocities that have been heaped upon half of bleeding Europe, and put an eternal end to the pride and power of Prussian militarism.

It will insure the life of Liberty. For every baby bond—sale price $50—will do this:

Buy 14 rifle grenades, or Twenty-three hand grenades, or Trench knives for a rifle company, or

One thousand surgical needles, or Seventy hot water bags, or Thirty-seven cases of surgical instruments for enlistment men's belts, or

Ten cases of the same for officers' belts, or

Ten pounds of ether, or Three rifles, or

A lot of other things necessary in the field.

Don't be ashamed of the baby bond. It carries some kick.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2, and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and takes the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

GIRLS, GIRLS, TRY IT! STOP DANDRUFF AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Hair Stops Falling Out and Gets Thick, Wavy, Strong and Beautiful.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandierine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandierine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandierine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Dandierine from any druggist or toilet counter for a few cents.

WHAT SHOULD BE THE PUN-ISHMENT OF THE HUNS?

There is a good deal of talk nowadays about peace, but so far not on the part of the Allies. On the contrary, they say there must be unconditional surrender by the unspeakable Huns. And when this latter takes place, there is also talk of what then should be the punishment of the leading men who brought on and have contributed to the greatest crime of all the ages. What should be their punishment? Are they to go scott free? Surely not. He that sows the wind must expect to reap the whirlwind.

Retribution is one of the grand principles in the Divine administration of human affairs. In mythology, Nemesis is a goddess, presiding over the normal and proper order of things and visiting with retribution any derangement of the natural equilibrium. She is thus a divinity of chastisement and vengeance.

It was, indeed, a curious Nemesis under which the Iron Duke Bismarck fell, after having enjoyed for 27 years the reputation of being the world's greatest human butcher under William I, when the latter's grandson William II, (the present kaiser) first came to the throne in 1888, and selected a new chancellor, to the humiliation of Bismarck.

Nemesis is a strong and threatening word, and when used towards the kaiser resembles the banquet of Damocles and the ever suspended sword. As to the kaiser, may not the words of George Eliott apply with singular fitness: "Nemesis is lame, but she is of colossal stature; and sometimes, while her sword is not yet unsheathed, she stretches out her huge left arm and grasps her victim. The mighty hand is invisible, but the victim totters under the dire clutch."

Are we not all hoping that this fairly describes the condition of the infamous kaiser and his blood thirsty crew, as they richly deserve?

After our civil war in this country, although their offense as conspirators for the murder of President Abraham Lincoln, General U. S. Grant, Secretary of State Wm. H. Seward, and Vice-President Andrew Johnson, were as nothing in comparison to the heinous crimes of the kaiser and his cohorts, Mrs. Surret and three of her male confederates were executed. They gave their lives in retribution for their crime.

As we are not the judge or jury, we shall have to leave it to later tribunals to pass sentence on the kaiser and his cohorts.

The cowardly spirit of evil is forever telling you that bad, wicked and corrupt deeds are pardonable. But if you believe this you will find some day to your cost that it is not true. God's mill grinds slow but sure. There is everywhere the working of the everlasting law that man gets as he gives. "Be not deceived, God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND.

John Ireland was no less a great citizen than a great churchman. The Archbishop took a great part in public affairs. His patriotism was shown when he hurried home from France, where he was studying, to become chaplain of a Minnesota regiment in the Civil War. If he did not so far discard the tradition of the cloth as play the part of a soldier, like the Southern Bishop, Leonidas Polk, he shared every hardship and vicissitude of the soldier's life, and on one occasion strengthened the secular arm by helping to rush ammunition to the front.

He began his work as priest with a pastorate at St. Paul, the city he was to be identified with for all his life. But purely ecclesiastical affairs did not engross his great energy. Prohibition was one cause which he had greatly at heart. Another was the union of the parochial and the public school. It was a large scheme, conceived without bigotry, but in the nature of things it could not succeed, though it was tried for a time on a small scale. The tradition of complete separation between Church and State is too deeply held to be broken. Yet Archbishop Ireland's belief that the gulf between religion and education should be bridged is that of many people. None could have had a better chance of bridging it than he, for he was esteemed and beloved by men of every creed. Whether or not it was some suspicion of "modernism" that deprived him of the Cardinal's hat need not be discussed. But every other honor which could be paid to him was his, and his death is widely and sincerely mourned.

FOOD NOTES

SUGAR PRICES

Beginning September 9, the price of sugar at the refinery advanced to 9c. This will bring the retail price of sugar up to 11c for two pound sales of either bulk or carton sugar. A wider margin is allowed on two pound bulk sales because of the extra expense involved in bags, twine, labor, time and shrinkage. Carton sugar, although costing the retailer more money, does not involve the above additional expenses and must therefore, be sold on the prescribed margin of not to exceed one cent per pound.

Where sugar is sold in five pound lots to country trade or where larger sales are made on canning certificates, the retailer must sell on a margin of not to exceed 1c per pound.

As most wholesalers still have on hand approximately a month's supply, the new price will not be generally affected immediately.

All sugar, bought at the old price, must be sold on the old basis.

Very truly yours,

FRED C. CROXTON.

Federal Food Administrator for Ohio.

MOTORAIDS

The government, in calling for the saving of gasoline, has already put the ban on Sunday automobile riding in the Eastern states and it is well for all owners to heed the call and do their best to conserve all gasoline possible.

Do not use gasoline for washing or cleaning. Use kerosene to cut the grease. Do not spill gasoline or let it drip when filling the car. It is dangerous and wasteful. Do not expose gasoline to the air as it evaporates rapidly and is dangerous. Do not allow the engine to run when the car is standing still. Cars are filled with self starters and it is good for the batteries to be used frequently. Have the carburetors adjusted to use the leanest mixture possible. A lean mixture avoids carbon deposits.

See that the piston rings fit tight and that the cylinders hold compression well. Leakage of compression causes loss. Stop all gasoline leakage. Form the habit of shutting off the gasoline at the tank or feed pipe. See that all bearings run freely and are well lubricated. Friction consumes power and wasted gas.

President's Address

Washington, Oct. 1.—President Wilson's speech before the United States senate yesterday urging the adoption of the woman's suffrage amendment follows:

Gentlemen of the Senate: The unusual circumstances of a world war in which we stand and are judged in the view not only of our own people and our own consciences, but also in the view of all nations and peoples, will, I hope, justify in your thought, as it does in mine, the message, I have come to bring you. I regard the concurrence of the senate in the constitutional amendment proposing the extension of the suffrage to women as vitally essential to the successful prosecution of the great war of humanity in which we are engaged. I have come to urge upon you the considerations which have led me to that conclusion.

It is not only my privilege, it is also my duty to apprise you of every circumstance and every element involved in this momentous struggle, which seems to me affects its very processes and its outcome. It is my duty to win the war and ask you to remove every obstacle that stands in the way of winning it.

I had assumed that that senate would occur in the amendment because no disputable principle is involved, but only a question of the method by which the suffrage is to be extended to women. There is and can be no party issue involved in it. Both of our national parties are pledged, explicitly pledged, to equality of suffrage for the women of the country. Neither party, therefore, it seems to me, can justify hesitation as to the method of obtaining it, can rightfully hesitate to substitute federal initiative for state initiative if the early adoption of this measure is necessary to the successful prosecution of the war and if the method state action proposed in the party platform of 1916 is impracticable within any reasonable length of time, if practicable at all. And its adoption is, to my judgment, clearly necessary to the successful prosecution of the war and the successful realization of the objectives for which the war is being fought.

That judgment I take the liberty of urging upon you with solemn earnestness for reasons which I shall state very frankly I hope will seem as conclusive to you as they seem to me.

This is a people's war and the people thinking constitute its atmosphere and morale, not relations of the drawing room or political consideration of the causes. If we are indeed democrats and wish to lead this world to democracy, we can ask other people to accept in proof of our sincerity and our ability to lead them where they wish to be led, nothing less persuasive and convincing than our actions. Our professions will not suffice. Verification must be forthcoming when verification is asked for. And in this case verification is asked for in this particular matter. You ask by whom? Not through diplomatic channels. Not by foreign ministers. Not by the intimations of parliaments. It is asked for by the anxious, expectant, suffrage peoples with whom we are dealing and willing to put their destinies in some manner in our hands, if they are sure that we wish the same things that they do. I do not speak by conjecture. It is not alone the voices of statesmen and of newspapers that reach me, and the voices of foolish and intemperate agitators do not reach me at all. Through many, many channels I have been made aware what the plain, struggling work-a-day folk are thinking upon whom the chief terror and suffering of this tragic war falls. They are looking to the great, powerful, famous democracy of the west to lead them to the new day for which they have so long waited and they think in their logical simplicity that democracy means that women shall play their part in affairs as men and upon an equal footing with them. If we reject measures like this, in ignorance or defiance of what a new age has brought forth, of what they have seen but we have not they will cease to believe in us, they will cease to follow or to trust us. They have seen their own governments accept this interpretation of democracy—seen old governments like that of Great Britain, which did not profess to be democratic, promise readily and as of course this justice to women, though they had before refused it, the struggle revelations of this war having made things new and plain, to give this as well as to peoples.

"Are we alone to refuse to learn the lesson; are we alone to ask and take the utmost that our women can give—service and sacrifice of every kind—and still say we do not see what title that gives them to stand by our sides in this guidance of the affairs of their nation and ours? We have made partners of the women in this war; shall we admit them only to a partnership of suffering and sacrifice and toil and not to a partnership of privilege and right? This war could not have been fought either by the other nations engaged or by America if it had not been for the services of the women—services rendered in every sphere—not merely in the fields of efforts in which we have been accustomed to see them work, but wherever men have worked and upon the very skirts and edges of the battle itself.

"The women of America are too noble, and too intelligent and too devoted to be slackers, whether you give or withhold this thing that is mere justice; but I know the magic it will work in their thoughts and spirits if you give it to them. I propose it as I would propose to admit soldiers to the suffrage, the men fighting in the field for our liberties and the liberties of the world, were they excluded.

"That is my case. This is my appeal. Many may deny its validity, if they choose, but no one can brush aside or answer the arguments upon which it is based. The executive tasks of this war rest upon me. I ask that you lighten them and place in my hands instruments, spiritual instruments, which I do not now possess, which I sorely need and which I have daily to apologize for not being able to employ."

"THE WIFE"

BY JANE PHELPS

A DISTRESSING WAIT AND A
LAME EXPLANATION
CHAPTER XLVII.

Hour after hour Ruth sat by the window, watching, listening. Occasionally she would doze off for a few moments, tired with her hard week's work, and her long ride on the railroad. But she woke at the slightest noise. Eleven struck, then twelve. Where could Brian be? One, a quarter past. She rose and, going into the bedroom, she undressed and slipped into a wrapper. Just as the half hour struck she heard Brian's key in the door.

With an immense effort, she pulled herself together. She wouldn't blame until she knew. Once more she recalled what her aunt had said about surprises reacting upon the one who tried to give them. She should have let him know she was there.

Brian, the moment he opened the door, had sensed her presence. The faint odor of the perfume that she always used, greeted him, warning him she had arrived.

"Oh, Brian! I thought you'd never come!" she exclaimed as she rose to meet him.

"Why didn't you let me know you were coming? How's a fellow to keep track of you? I'd like to know!" and while he kissed her affectionately, his tone was impatient.

"I wanted to surprise you, dear. I finished before I expected, and thought you would be so pleased."

"Surprised yourself instead. Well come on, let's go to bed! I took a long bus ride, didn't realize it was so late."

Ruth wanted desperately to ask if he took the bus ride alone, and she bit her lip to keep the words back. She was thankful for the dim light. Her eyes were full of tears, and she did not want Brian to see them. Like all men, he had little patience with a weeping woman.

"Have you been comfortable?" she ventured. "Has Mrs. Crawford cooked nice things for you?"

The dim lights hid from her the flush that rose to Brian's face as he replied:

"She hasn't had much cooking to do! You didn't suppose I was coming up to this dump to eat alone every night, did you?"

"Oh, Brian! how can you call it pretty home 'a dump'? It is so pretty."

"Anything is a dump when a man's alone."

"Well, dear, I may not have to go away again for a long time. I did good work too. I know I did."

She longed for understanding and sympathy, and it won't be long before they will see I am worth even more than they are paying me."

"Then you can crow over me still more!" Brian returned, yet thinking he hoped she had some money left; he had spent all he had.

"Don't Brian! not tonight!" now her voice was full of tears.

"Alright, I'll be good," and then

SEEING THE LIGHT!

they kissed and "made friends," as Brian affectionately expressed it.

But in the night Ruth was awakened by Brian talking in his sleep. "You're a good girl, Mollie!" he muttered, then after a moment, "Not many girls as popular as you—" Ruth waited, scarcely breathing, so fearful was she he would stop, "would spend so many evenings with—he waited longer this time, "an old married man," he finished.

So her fears had not been groundless after all. He had been with Mollie King, and—he had said "so many evenings." Perhaps he had been with her every night. No wonder he had no time to write to her.

Bitterness filled her heart. She was working for his comfort as well as her own. She had no thought but to share all with him. And he, he was spending his time with Mollie King while she was hard at work to improve their condition.

For the first time came the thought. Brian hadn't much money. Perhaps that was why he had borrowed of Clark that time when he went to Philadelphia. To take Mollie King out. He must do that again. She would ask him in the morning if he was out of money. She must use tact about it, or he would get angry again. But she must prevent him borrowing. She had quite a little left over from her salary and all she saved from that. She was allowed for expense money. A very generous allowance it was too.

She slept no more that night. At breakfast she said:

"If you have been eating out Brian, it must have cost you a lot. I didn't begin to spend my expense money. I had no heart to do anything all alone, so I went to bed, all but one evening. Then I went to a show," she talked fast so he wouldn't interrupt. "Here's twenty dollars until you get some in." Then, as he hesitated to take it, "you have almost saved it on the living. Crawford couldn't have used much of that I left her only getting breakfasts."

"That's so!" and convinced he could take it without a blow to his dignity, Brian put it hurriedly into his pocket. "You see Ruth I took Mollie out to dinner with me. You know how I hate to eat alone, and it costs something to buy grub nowadays."

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water
in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

"To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

PETEY DINK

We Must Furnish the Spade"—Billy Sunday

By REV. WILLIAM A. SUNDAY

Uncle Sam's Liberty war chest needs filling again!

We have the cash to fill it—as many times as he lifts the lid.

There are only two horns to this dilemma—you are either a patriot or a traitor.

The men on the firing line and on the battle-ships have turned from business, home, mother, wife, children, and they stand ready to give their lives and shield with their bodies us who remain at home.

We are unworthy to be thus protected, if we do not do our utmost to sustain them.

We must be one in our determination to win this war. We are traitors to the cause for which they are giving their lives, if we do things here that make their efforts harder.

Life is not worth living unless there is something to live for. Life would not be worth living if that bunch of Heims should win.

That is why they cannot win. That is why we cannot lose.

What a mountain of crime God has on his books against that horde of Hellish Huns. What grave is deep enough for this thousand-armed, thousand-footed, thousand-headed, thousand-horned, thousand-fanged pirate of the air, assassin of the seas, despoiler of the earth and ambassador of Hell!

The army and navy will dig the grave, but we must furnish the spade.

Our boys will soon hang crape on the door of the Potsdam Palace, and the bands will play Yankee-Doodle and Dixie along the Rhine.

Uncle Sam is the cactus in the Kaiser's pillow.

Our Boys have gone over to clean up on that fool bunch of Huns and it is up to us to supply them with whatever they need to finish the job. It takes money to keep the riveters riveting—the sawyers sawing—the machine guns spitting bullets and the grub wagon always on hand with the eats. There is nothing too good for our brave defenders.

Our vocabulary contains no words adequate to express our approval of the achievements of our government since we threw our hat in the ring. We are rich on top of the ground; we are rich under the ground and our rivers creep like silver serpents to the seas, bearing our products.

The children of England, France, Italy and Belgium are laughing once more because they are being fed from Uncle Sam's bakeshop. One carload of meat every two minutes, one hog out of every four, nine million pounds of meat a day—all going over to feed our boys. We are in this scrap to the last dollar, the last grain of wheat, the last day.

We will never stop until Germany dips her dirty blood-stained rag to the Stars and Stripes. It's a whale of a job we've tackled, but we can and must put it over.

But you must help.

Don't whine. Don't knock. You can't saw wood with a hammer. Don't turn the hose on the fire; add fuel.

KENIA GOES ON STRICT SUGAR RATION TODAY

Xenia and surrounding villages went on a strict sugar ration today. The sugar card system, administered by a committee of grocers, of which E. Norbauer is chairman, will run this time until the end of the year, he is in force here. The cards are printed and are in the hands of Mr. Norbauer, who is now engaged in distributing them to the grocers. He asks that any grocer who has not received his cards by Monday evening call at his store and secure his allotment.

The use of these cards will make it possible for the grocers to protect themselves against unscrupulous people who have made a practice of evading the spirit of the food laws. While it has been pointed out again and again that a consumer who evades the food laws is just as disloyal as the dealer who evades the law, many have continued the practice. The card system will cut them off short. Hereafter, a family may secure more than two pounds of sugar per person per month, and not more than two pounds each, to be paid at one time by the consumer or consumers. The cards will be issued by the grocers and will bear the name of the head of the family, the number in the family and the date the card is issued. Each card will be good for three months and can be used at any store in the city. When a purchase of sugar is made, the grocer will punch the card, and when the family allowance is punched out that family can get no more sugar until the next month.

In order to guard against dishonest consumers who may try to secure more than one card, the committee of grocers has provided a checking up system which will make it possible to detect anyone who tries to beat the system.

It has been decided by the committee that any family caught evading the spirit of the card system will be penalized by being deprived of sugar for a month.

YOUNG GIRL IS TENDERLY LAID TO LAST LONG REST

Surrounded by flowers, which almost filled the room in which the casket reposed, the body of Miss Elsie Schardt lay at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schardt, on Bellbrook avenue, during the funeral services which were held Monday afternoon.

The Rev. Mr. Hanshue of Dayton, former pastor of the dead girl in this city, and whose church she attended in Dayton, conducted the service. He gave a beautiful funeral discourse. There was no music with the service. Bearing the body to its grave in Woodland were the two brothers and four cousins of the young girl: Carl and Ralph Schardt, Earl and Robert Collier, Bert and Paul Schardt.

Friends of Miss Schardt from Dayton, including a number who had worked with her at the factory at Moraine City, attended the service. There were also several floral tributes from her fellow employees at the airplane factory.

Relatives who came from Dayton for the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schardt, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Schardt, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Beacham.

ONE MONTH AFTER GOING TO CAMP HE WILL BE LAID TO REST

One month to the day, from the date he went to Camp Sherman to become a part of the army training there, Private Robert E. Weddle will be laid to his last long rest.

The body of the young soldier who succumbed to bronchial pneumonia at the Camp Sherman base hospital, Sunday afternoon, arrived in Xenia, Monday night, and was taken to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Weddle on East Third street.

Funeral services will be held at St. Bridget's Church, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, and interment will be made in Woodland cemetery.

Private Weddle went to Camp Sherman September 3. He had never had the opportunity of making a return visit home.

NOT DUE TO SEX ALONE

Xenia Women Have Learned The Cause of Many Mysterious Pains and Aches.

Many women have come to know that sex isn't the reason for all back-aches, dizzy headaches and urinary disorders. Men have these troubles, too, and often they come from kidney weakness. To live simply, eat sparingly, take better care of one's self and to use Doan's Kidney Pills, is bound to help bad kidneys get better. There is no other remedy so well-recommended by Xenia people. Read this case:

Mrs. A. C. Davis, Home Ave., Xenia, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have surely been fine when we have used them. My kidney trouble has been a weakness in my back and sharp pains through it. When I bent over, I could hardly straighten. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I bought at Donges' Drug Store, soon cured me and I haven't had any kidney trouble since, so I am sure the cure is permanent."

Price 60c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Davis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

PARCEL SHOWER FOR MISS REVA HUSTON

Mrs. Ertis Huston, Mrs. Ray Huston and Mrs. Rass Huston, were hostesses at a parcel shower at the home of Mrs. Ertis Huston for the pleasure of Miss Reva Huston, a favorite bride-elect. The afternoon was enjoyed by fifty women. Much pleasure was derived by the guests from writing receipts which were presented to the bride for her new cook book. In a guessing contest which the guests indulged in, the prize, a bon bon dish, was given to the bride by the winner, Mrs. Charles Fudge.

The ice cream, cake and punch served, carried out the yellow and white color arrangement. Dainty bon bon baskets were the favors. Many pretty gifts of china, cut glass, silverware and aluminum were received by Miss Huston, whose marriage to Norman Leach will be celebrated Thursday evening, October 3.

MAIL SUBSCRIBERS

Are You in Arrears?

If you are, this is the last paper Uncle Sam's War Industries Board will let us send you until you pay up.

IT'S A GOVERNMENT ORDER--We were willing to go along in the old way, but it is no longer possible

Look at the date on your paper and see whether you are behind. If you are, and still can't get to town, phone us so you won't miss an issue, and come in by Saturday and pay up.

The Government order making it mandatory that all subscriptions to newspapers be discontinued upon date of expiration, has seemed strange to some subscribers until it is explained.

The object is to save wasted paper now used by thousands of publishers in sending their publication to persons who never pay for same.

Any paper which does a subscription "time" business, allowing the subscriber to pay when he wishes, will lose a considerable amount of money every year on bad accounts.

If everyone pays in advance the bad accounts totally vanish and the newspaper which would have gone to them is a complete saving.

This is the reason for the ruling of the WAR INDUSTRIES BOARD making it necessary that we discontinue every subscription maturing on or after OCTOBER 1st.

Don't Take It As a Personal Matter

If We Stop Your Paper The War Industries Board says no paper to anyone who is not paid ahead.

WE TRUST YOU BUT CAN'T SEND THE PAPER TO PROVE IT.

WILL YOU HELP OUR BOYS ABROAD?

Every citizen interested in the boys of his home town now at the front, and in the brave women who equally are serving their country abroad, has an opportunity to show his appreciation of the sacrifice they are making. The opportunity comes as a result of the generosity and thought of Colonel William Boyce Thompson of New York, who has conceived and put into execution what is known as the Home Paper Service.

Under the plan, every man and woman in foreign service will receive the town newspaper, and so be kept in constant touch with the places and the people they know and love.

Every branch of the United States Government is interested in the plan. The Government realizes the importance of keeping those in the service happy and constantly in touch with their home ties and associations. Nothing is more depressing in a national emergency than the spirit of loneliness in those serving their country, and officials know that nothing can dispel this feeling more effectively than reading the home town newspaper.

Publishers of newspapers in all parts of the country—this newspaper included—have grasped with pleasure the plan outlined by Colonel Thompson, and they have agreed to co-operate in every way.

Under the ruling of the War Industries Board newspaper publishers are forbidden to send their newspapers free, even to soldiers. The newspaper must be subscribed for in the regular way, the only exception being soldiers who formerly were in the employ of the newspaper and who left that service to enlist. Colonel Thompson therefore proposes that the public in each community contribute to a fund so that the home newspaper (in our case this newspaper) may reach every man and woman now in the service of his country.

Anyone may contribute to the fund, and any sum may be contributed. It is not necessary to contribute the entire amount of one subscription. It does not matter whether the rich man sends in one hundred dollars or the poor boy or little girl sends in five cents. Each gift will be a message of love and helpfulness to the home town folks "Over There." The money will be lumped into one fund, out of which subscriptions will be entered as fast as the money is received.

Contributors who send in the full price of a year's subscription may, if they wish, designate to what particular person they wish the newspaper sent, but if the name given is already listed as receiving the paper, then the publisher reserves the right to apply the subscription to some less fortunate soldier boy or noble woman who is just as lonely for news of home and home folks.

The name of every contributor to this home paper service will be published in this newspaper, and the name of everyone entered for a subscription will be published as well as the number of those remaining whose subscriptions have not been covered.

If the amount of money received shall be more than is necessary to send the paper to every person from the town now in the service, then the balance will be turned over to the Red Cross.

The plan is endorsed by the publisher of this newspaper without any thought of profit, either directly or indirectly, but with a sincere desire to help keep the home fires burning and to send to our heroes and heroines news of our town, to keep their hearts warm for us and to let them know they are constantly in our minds.

The publisher, of course, cannot make a profit on circulation, and additional circulation such as this will be circulation from non-purchasers sent far across the sea—can have no added value to the advertiser.

These facts are stated so that every contributor may feel that every cent contributed goes to the good cause.

The mothers of our boys are facing an ordeal with a bravery that commands respect and admiration. Here and there where tiny stars are turned from blue to gold, where anguish grips the heart, the nation stands in silence and honors the women who have given of their blood, the very bone of their bone, to their country. To them, home has lost its meaning—the soul of it has fled—there is no home, it is just a place, and no place is quite so lonely, unless it be within the hearts of those brave sons in far off France who long for just a word of home! There cannot be a man, there cannot be a woman, no, not even a child, who will fail to contribute just a little to make the hearts of these patriots lighter. Not one. Not in our town.

Everyday Etiquette

"When a wedding takes place at the bride's home, when are the congratulations given?" was Joe's query.

"The congratulations are offered as soon as the ceremony is over. The minister is the first to offer them, and after that he steps aside to let the relatives and guests speak to the happy couple," said his father.

TELLS HOW TO GET BACK OLD TIME AMBITION

Discoverer instructs druggists everywhere not to take a cent of anyone's money unless Bio-feren doubles energy, vigor and nerve force in two weeks.

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

Any man or woman who finds that they are going backward, are not as strong as they used to be, have lost confidence in their ability to accomplish things, are nervous and run down should take two Bio-feren tablets after each meal and one at bedtime. Seven a day for seven days. Then take one after each meal until the supply is exhausted. Then if your nervousness is not gone, if you do not feel twice as strong and energetic as before, if your sluggish disposition has not been changed to vigorous active one, take back the empty package and your money will be returned without comment. No matter what excesses, worry, overwork—too much tobacco or alcohol—have weakened your body and wrecked your nerves, any druggist anywhere is authorized to refund your money on request if Bio-feren, the mighty upbuilder of blood, muscle and brain does not do just what is claimed for it.

MANY INTERESTING SUBJECTS DISCUSSED AT CLUB MEETING

One of the most enthusiastic and best attended meetings ever held in the Xenia Business Men's Association rooms occurred Monday evening. While the meeting was arranged for the purpose of giving everyone a chance to kick on any subject under the sun it did not develop into a "kick-fest," although there was considerable criticism of a constructive nature. The speakers of the evening were John R. Patterson, Alex. Finlay, City Manager Riddle, John W. Prugh, and Judge H. L. Smith. The subjects presented by these speakers furnished food for an interesting round table discussion in which a number of those present took part.

Mr. Patterson made the opening address on the subject "A Big Small Town." Mr. Patterson is an eloquent and forceful speaker and his audience thoroughly enjoyed his remarks. He did not refer to any particular town or city in his address but enlarged on his subject in a general way. He said that a town is not big or little because of the size of its population but because of the bigness or littleness of its spirit. "There are many big little towns and many little big towns in this country," he said. He said that Xenia has the making of a "big little town" and said that he had noticed many evidences of this since he came to Xenia.

Mr. Finlay spoke briefly about the club membership and stated that he, as chairman of the membership committee, will start a drive for new members at once.

The water question which at present is uppermost in the minds of the people of Xenia, was ably presented by City Manager Riddle, who gave the audience the benefit of his careful investigation of the situation. Mr. Riddle advocates public ownership of the water company and presented figures to prove that the water system, if publicly owned, could be operated in such a way that the amount of money derived from the advanced water rates which are sure to come, if applied to purchase of the system would pay for it in thirty years. He pointed out that the water company engineers declare a 100 per cent increase is fair and said that the city engineers had agreed that a 50 per cent increase was fair. Therefore when the rate is finally fixed by the Public Utilities Commission it is sure to be at least 50 per cent higher than the present rate.

Several of those present expressed themselves as favoring public ownership of the water company in the discussion which followed. Dr. Grube, city health officer, who was present took occasion to defend his position in connection with the typhoid fever epidemic. He said he had been criticized for branding the city water as impure and declared that if he had thought it was impure he would have announced it from the house tops. He said that he had been connected with the health department of Xenia for twelve years and was on the State Board of Health for two years and that in that time he had repeatedly tested the city water and at no time found it contaminated with dangerous bacilli. He said that the result of the recent test made in Columbus had not yet reached him, but was confident that when it did come it would prove the same as previous tests. He admitted that there was a degree of danger in pumping water from an open reservoir and he expressed himself as favorable to public ownership of the water system. C. S. Frazer made the statement that he had visited the water works plant Monday and he made the positive statement that the company has no pipes leading to Old Town run and that there is no evidence that the company has pumped water from that stream in several years. Several years ago it had a permit to pump from that stream and did use it for one or two years. A committee will be named to confer with the city government about the matter of buying the city water system.

John W. Prugh spoke on the subject of "Local Patriotism." He declared that no city in the country is more patriotic in responding to Liberty Loan, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and other war calls than is Xenia, but that it is woefully lacking in expressing its patriotism in other ways. He demanded to know why Xenia streets are devoid of flags and stated that men from other cities had often remarked to him "What's the matter with this town. Don't you know there is a war going on?" He warmly lambasted the men who go along the street at 5 o'clock in the evening when taps are sounded and fail to remove their hats. "When taps are sounded take off your hat and stand at attention, and if the man in front of you does not know enough to do likewise tell him so. He will thank you for it," Mr. Prugh said.

The meeting was closed with a magnificent Liberty loan appeal by Judge H. L. Smith. Judge Smith paid his respects to the "financial slackers" and he handled them without gloves. "Plain facts," was his subject. He handed out the facts without a sugar coating. "These plain facts relate to the plain slacker," he said, "and I do not refer to the young boy who tries to avoid the draft. There are bigger slackers right here in Greene county than the boy who runs away from camp. You all know men who have plenty of money and do not buy Liberty bonds, help the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., etc. They are the 'prime slackers' and are more disserviceable than the worst soldier slacker who ever lived." He called attention to the slacker who at the early age of 45 or 50 years turns over his farm or business to his boy to keep that boy out of war and then sits back and profiteers and gives nothing to help in the war. He told of another man who owns a 1,000 acre farm who bought a $100 Liberty bond in the last campaign and then sanctimoniously said: "We all have to do our bit." Such men as these will be smoked out in the present campaign and if they fail to do their full duty they will be reported on a yellow "slacker card," which will be kept on record to mark them down through the generations as dirty, contemptible, yellow slackers. "When the boys come marching home, God Almighty pity you if you have not done your part here at home," Judge Smith feelingly declared in conclusion.

And the Hobo Left. "Semper fidelis," announced the hobo. "Dat's me." "Sic semper," chirped the head of the house, and the bulldog promptly responded.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE IS GOING ALONG SMOOTHLY

The Liberty Loan drive in Greene County is progressing smoothly with workers "hard at it" in every part of the county.

The official report up to 3 o'clock Monday evening was $88,000. It is estimated that by noon Tuesday the county had passed the $100,000 mark, or in other words has gone one-eighth of the distance to the goal. It is not expected that there will be any "grand stand" developments in the county, but everyone connected with the drive is confident that Greene County will go over the top without difficulty.

The people of the county are called upon to make up their minds at once how many bonds they are going to buy—and be sure you make up your mind to buy all you are able to buy—so that the solicitors need not make a return trip.

A series of meetings in the county have been arranged as follows:

Thursday evening, October 3rd, Bellbrook. October 4th, Spring Valley. October 7th, Beavercreek High School. October 8th, Yellow Springs. October 10th, Osborn. October 11th, Bowersville. October 12th, Jamestown.

Joseph E. Derbes and Leon P. Earl of Cincinnati have been secured to address four of these meetings. The speaker for the other two meetings has not yet been assigned.

A Liberty Loan Glee Club of 15 voices that has just been organized here, will sing at each of these meetings.

MANY FRIENDS ATTEND FUNERAL OF THORNHILL JACK

With many friends in attendance, and a profusion of floral tributes of affection and respect from friends surrounding the casket, funeral services for Thornhill Jack were held at the home of his mother, Mrs. Emma Jack on South Detroit street.

The Rev. Homer C. Biddlecum of the Friends church conducted the service, and gave a very consoling discourse. The music of the service was furnished by the Victrola, which played two hymns "Abide With Me," and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

There were floral tributes from the Eagles and Woodmen of the World, and three pieces from The Xenia Shoe Company and the employees at the factory. The pallbearers were: Harry, John, Oliver and Theodore Jack, Earl Lawson and Clyde Smith. Among the friends from out of the city who came for the service were: Charles Jack and family; Mrs. Hattie Jack and Mrs. Burton; of Dayton; Joseph Thornhill and family of Coalton; Mrs. Frankie Dunham and Warren Jack and family of Lebanon.

BRIEF ILLNESS ENDS IN DEATH OF YOUNG GREENE CO. SOLDIER

After a very brief illness of influenza which developed into pneumonia John Roy Frame, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frame of the Clifton and Wilberforce road, died at the Naval Training Station at Hampton Roads, Va., at 9:30 Monday morning.

His mother and sister, who started for Hampton Roads, Sunday afternoon as soon as they learned of his critical illness, had not reached him before he died.

The young man enlisted in the navy last summer. The illness which caused his death developed very rapidly, as a letter received from him a day or two ago by Ralph George of Jamestown, said that he was in good health. Private Frame was 21 years old, and prior to his enlistment, had been employed as a clerk in the store of Jenkins and Turnbull at Cedarville. The body will be shipped home, and a funeral announcement will be made later.

XENIA MERCHANTS ASKED TO CLOSE FOR BAND CONCERT

Xenia merchants are requested to close their places of business for one hour from 12:30 to 1:30 Wednesday afternoon, while the concert boosting the fourth Liberty Loan is being given by the Great Lakes Naval Training Station Band.

It is hoped that people listening to the concert will show more patriotism than many of them did while the concerts was being given here by the same band last spring. At that time, most of the men stood with heads covered while the national anthem of the country was being played.

While this was due in great part no doubt to thoughtlessness and not lack of patriotism, it shows want of proper respect, and gives a bad impression to strangers. Heads should be uncovered when the national anthems of our allied countries are being played as well as when "The Star Spangled Banner," is rendered.

TRAINING SCHOOL FORMALLY OPENS AT WILBERFORCE

Wilberforce University dismissed school today to participate in the patriotic demonstration for the opening of the Students' Army Training Corps of the United States Army, which took place at ten o'clock, in front of the headquarters at the barracks of Battery B, and the air was filled with the voices of four hundred students as they sang patriotic songs in keeping with the occasion.

Captain W. E. Ostermaier was in full charge, assisted by Lieutenants Percival R. Piner of Washington, D. C. and Merrill H. Curtis, of Columbus, Ohio, who have been detailed by the War Department to give instruction to one hundred and fifty young men in the barracks established in Shorter Hall.

At the designated hour the men who have been at the camp under Captain Ostermaier in full uniform, accompanied by the young men of the S. A. T. C., faculty and students, assembled on the parade ground and joined in singing several patriotic songs, while the flag was raised, at the same time the proper salute was given.

Sergeant Alfred J. Warshaw read the order of the day. This was followed by the reading of the President's message by Lieutenant Piner. The principal address was delivered by President W. S. Scarborough, stating that in keeping with the War Department the students and faculty had gathered to show their gratitude to the government for the occasion whereby young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one might be trained for the duties of the hour, and if necessary go to the front and fight for universal democracy. "The colored men have always been patriotic," declared President Scarborough, "their fathers and grandfathers took part in all of the great battles for the preservation of the country. President Wilson has shown his wisdom and forethought in that he has made provision for the education of the colored youth and we are more than grateful to him for his interest, and especially do three million Negroes rally to his support when he issued his edict against lynching."

Superintendent William A. Joiner, who has taken unusual interest in the men since the first detachment was sent for training, and who has delivered several war addresses to the men, spoke at length and complimented the men now in training and assured the officers in charge that the young men soon to enter the school would keep up the usual standard of the university in making records for war work.

A Dutch windmill of giant proportions stands in Golden Gate park in San Francisco. It is said to be the largest in the world. Even in Holland, the land of windmills, it is said, there is not one that comes up to its size. It is 80 feet high; its wings have a radius of 57 feet. In a 30-mile breeze it pumps 70,000 gallons an hour through a 12-inch pipe, which carries the water to a distance of two miles and a height of 200 feet. It was a gift to San Francisco from her leading citizens, and cost $25,000.

Stomach Trouble Can Be Cured!

Thousands upon thousands say that Pepsinco is the only thing that helped their stomach. Many remedies gave temporary relief, but with Pepsinco the help was so different. It was lasting. Pepsinco did its work thoroughly. In many cases a few days' treatment was all that was necessary. The pain left. It is really surprising how many druggists not only sell and recommend Pepsinco, but take it themselves. They have so many customers tell of the good it has done them, that it is hard to resist the temptation to take it themselves. A Druggist in Indiana says he sells more Pepsinco than all the other stomach remedies put together.

GROUP OF 144 AMERICAN AIR FIGHTERS FLY 44,510 MILES

By Fred S. Ferguson.

With the Americans West of Verdun, Oct. 1.—A group of 144 American airplanes has flown 44,510 miles—equal to traveling almost twice around the earth. In the struggle 371 flying hours have been crowded into two days.

Such flying in the face of constant firing, is an indication of the wonderful fighting, observing and bombing work the Americans are doing.

Tons of explosive are being dropped on Mezieres, the key to the whole German communication system in this region, as well as on Charleville, Grandpre and Stain. All hangars and supply centers are being showered with bombs. Enemy troops are bombed and machine gunned in the roads. Observation balloons are harassed and shot down. The air has been swept practically clean of boche planes. Pursuit planes, working in big groups, participated in "shock action" flights, in which 20 or 30 are involved. Near Chapentry, eight boche planes were brought down in a single fight Saturday. In another twenty minute flight seven boches were sent whirling to the ground. One group of American aviators has 35 victories to its credit in three days' work.

A group of 15 bombing planes, en route to the rear of German lines in broad daylight, encountered a superior enemy force. Flying in close formation the Americans dropped all their bombs to lighten their machines and make them maneuver more readily. Then they rushed at the Germans, shooting down two and driving off the remainder. They returned for a new load of bombs, and flew back over the same course they had first taken.

Another group of bombers sighted some enemy troops marching along a road to reinforce the line where the French were attacking on the American left. They used up all their bombs on the column, then flew low and poured machine gun fire into the survivors. The killed and wounded a great number, scattering the others. A flotta of pursuit drove some German artillerymen from their batteries with machine gun fire.

One American plane took fire. The observer crawled out on the wing. The pilot brought the machine safely to the ground.

Enemy balloons are dived on without a shot being fired, until the American aviator is within thirty yards of his target.

Lieutenant Luke has 14 balloons to his credit since the start of St. Mihiel attack. Eleven of these are officially confirmed. The others have been accredited to him.

Fighting starts at dawn every day and does not end until after dark. The machines leave the land with the aid of flares and searching lights.

Night balloon shooting is the newest sport. Our men always get two or three. Observers have been flying as low as fifty meters, working in conjunction with the infantry. This work is being carried out by the greatest American air force yet concentrated. In the beginning the boche outnumbered us, three to two, but aggressiveness has kept the enemy constantly on the defensive behind his own lines. His losses have been so heavy and the Americans so slight, that even his original numerical superiority is now practically wiped out.

TURKEY MAY BE NEXT TO FALL BEFORE ALLIES

BY WEBB MILLER

Paris, Oct. 1.—Effects of the Bulgarian armistice upon Austria and Turkey will probably soon be noticeable, by the elimination of Bulgaria. The most immediate result is expected by many to be a separate peace with Turkey, due to the severance of its communications with Germany.

The haste with which Bulgaria signed the convention indicated the nation's readiness to concede every allied demand. Considering Bulgaria's past record, the allies were in no mood to let her off on easy terms.

They demanded every concession consistent with justice. Bulgaria's downfall caused a wild outburst of jubilation on the Paris Bourse.

The United States learned authoritatively that at present there will be no separate peace with Bulgaria, and no political decisions affecting that country's future will be taken. Only military measures follow the signing of the armistice.

"The Bulgarians are beaten. That explains and clarifies the situation at present," one authority stated. "The victorious advance of the allies toward Uskub led the Bulgarians to throw down their arms with such sudden fervor. Before hostilities ceased yesterday noon, even German reinforcements were unable to prevent capture of many prisoners and immense booty."

PERSHING PRAISES THE COMFORT KITS

Every man who goes to the trenches carries a comfort kit. Over and above its practical use, the comfort kit serves to carry a message of cordial good will to the man in the trench, and the man on the ship from the nation that sent him there.

Major General Pershing, in speaking of the kits sent to his men in Mexico by the Red Cross, said: "These things make the soldier remember that the people at home are behind him. You do not know how much that will mean to them who are going abroad. You do not know how much that means to any soldier who is over there carrying the flag of his country."

COMPLETE COLLAPSE OF GERMANY'S BALKAN POLICY IS APPROACHING

Washington, Oct. 1.—Russian and Rumanian diplomats here today forecast the complete collapse of Germany's policy in the Balkans and in the east.

The signing of the armistice by Bulgaria on the terms laid down by the allies was interpreted by officials at the Russian embassy as the resumption in power in Bulgaria by the Russophile group of Bulgarian statesmen, represented by Premier Malinoff. This, it was declared, would prove in the near future, a powerful stimulant to the efforts of the revolutionary democracy of Russia to restore Russia's unity and independence.

The stimulant, Russian officials pointed out, would be both military and political. The virtual exit of Bul-

EFFECT OF WILSON'S TALK UNDETERMINED

Washington, Oct. 1.—When the senate today entered the fifth day of its debate on woman's suffrage, the effect of President Wilson's plain talk of yesterday was undetermined.

Nobody knew whether the president has succeeded in swinging the necessary votes, except the men upon whom the decision rested.

These men were Simmons and Overman, of North Carolina; Guion of Louisiana; Wolcott and Saulsbury of Delaware, in the president's own party, and Baird of New Jersey, in the Republican party.

These were the men who might be expected, either through intense personal loyalty to the president, or the influence of his appeal to lay aside their own convictions. Several of them denied today that they had changed yet.

But all the Democrats named and several others heretofore have steadily maintained before the senate that it is the duty of congress unhesitatingly to give the commander in chief whatever he asks, and all he asks, in the name of victory.

He asked the enfranchisement of women as a victory measure.

Many observers of the trend of events in congress could not see how the senate could avoid acceding to the president's request. Several speeches remained to be made today. Senator Lodge, anti-suffrage leader, predicted, however, that a vote would be taken early.

DOUBLE MENACE NOW FACES THE KAISER'S ARMIES

The Anglo-Belgian drive in Flanders is developing a double menace to the Germans. They face the loss of their submarine base at Ostend, Zeebrugge and Bruges, and the railway and industrial centers of Lilie, Roubaix and Tourcoing.

Unusually rapid progress has been made in this region, despite the most stubborn resistance. The fighting front now extends from Dixmude southward to the region of La Bassee, a distance of nearly 50 miles.

A penetration of more than 8 miles has been made.

The Anglo-French-American attack in the Quentin region, which also embraces a front of about fifty miles, has given the British virtual control of Cambrai, while the British and French have more than half encircled St. Quentin. The great coal center of Douai also is in danger, the British having passed beyond it on the south.

The Americans, in this region, are fighting along the St. Quentin and Escaut Canale, astride LeCatelet.

The German resistance on the Rheims and Verdun front appears to be centering against the Americans in the Argonne region. The American progress there is very slow, owing to the influx of continuous enemy reinforcements which are launching counter-attack after counter-attack.

The French, however, are operating on the American left, and have made notable progress, carrying their lines north of Monthois, a total advance of nearly ten miles.

Between the Ailette and the Vesle the French continue their progress along the Chemin Des Dames and to the southward, drawing nearer both to Laon and Croanne.

Capture of 10,000 additional prisoners in Palestine, announced by General Allenby, has brought the total of Turkish prisoners to 60,000. This new bag was rounded up east of the Jordan, below Amman.

Reorganization of the lines in the Balkans are expected to follow rapidly Bulgaria's withdrawal from the war. The Germans are reported to be pouring great numbers of reinforcements from Rumania into southern Serbia. It is believed the allies will push rapidly northward to meet this army, utilizing the Bulgarian railways if necessary.

The Austrian war office has admitted the withdrawal of its line northward, west of Lake Ochrida, which formed the left flank of the allied drive in America. A big retirement of the Austrians along the whole Albanian front, is looked for, because of the danger of the flanking operations resulting from extension of the allied lines into Serbia.

The speed made, however, indicates that the master lists will be ready for mailing, late today, as the government printing office kept pace with the capsule pluckers.

JAMES F. TRADER FORMER XENIAN PASSES BEYOND

James F. Trader, a member of one of Xenia's oldest families, and formerly a leading resident of this city, died at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at his home in Cincinnati, following invalidism of several years duration.

His brother, Attorney W. F. Trader of this city, who was notified of his critical condition, was on his way to Cincinnati, when his relative passed away.

Mr. Trader was a son of the late Alfred and Lucinda Robinson Trader of this city and he was born and reared here, where his father was for years president of the old Xenia National Bank. He married Miss Elizabeth Duckworth, sister of George Duckworth, a prominent Cincinnati, whose name was borne by the celebrated Duckworth club, of the Queen City. Miss Duckworth came to this city to attend college, and it was here that Mr. Trader met her, their marriage following. She has also been an invalid for several years and confined to her bed, but is now a little improved, and able to sit up in her room.

Mr. Trader was in the hardware business in this city, conducting a store where the Babb store is now situated. He sold out his business interest in Xenia and bought the Barret Oil Mill at Spring Valley, which he operated for a time before going to Cincinnati, about 32 years ago. He was in the insurance business in the Queen City many years, and the family home is in Avondale.

Beside his widow, Mr. Trader leaves four daughters, the Misses Effie, Georgia, Florence and Louise.

The Misses Georgia and Florence operated the famous Cloverhook Home for the Blind, into which they converted the old home of the Misses Phoebe and Alice Cary, the poets, on College Hill, several years ago. Miss Georgia has been sightless since her childhood, and the home is a source of much interest and pleasure for her. Her sister and constant companion, Miss Florence, takes charge of the management of the home, and the beautiful devotion which exists between the sisters is noted among all their friends.

Attorney W. F. Trader is the only surviving member of a family of nine children. The late C. W. Trader for many years a leading merchant in Xenia, was a brother and another brother, John, died in Toledo, last year. W. F. Trader and his brother James, were always very greatly devoted to each other, and the death of the one is a severe blow to the surviving brother.

Announcement of the funeral arrangements will be made later.

Luther H. Aue, a nephew of Mrs. E. L. Oglesbee, of Yellow Springs, died last Saturday evening at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Chicago. It is supposed that pneumonia caused his death, but the telegram received by Mrs. Oglesbee, did not give the nature of the boy's illness.

The body will be brought to Yellow Springs, the old home of the young sailor's mother, for burial, and is expected to reach that place Tuesday night. Funeral services will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oglesbee, Thursday.

Young Aue was the son of the Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Aue of Emporia, Kan., and his parents were with him when he died. His father is a Lutheran clergyman. Mrs. Aue was before her marriage, Miss Bessie Hamma of Yellow Springs, and Dr. M. W. Hamma of Wittenburg college, is an uncle of the dead boy.

START A LITTLE FAMILY OF BABY LIBERTY BONDS

Don't disdain the baby bond. Don't hesitate to buy it because it is small. Don't disown it because it doesn't make as big a showing as your neighbor's may. Don't be ashamed to admit that you have it. Buy another; two or three more. Start a happy little family of baby bonds. Pretty soon you'll be proud of them.

For the baby bond has a kick like a Missouri mule.

And part of the kick in every baby bond that is bought will land upon the baby bayoneting Boches. In the aggregate it will play a big part in hurrying the end of the war. It will help humble the Hun; blaze the trail to Berlin; avenge the atrocities that have been heaped upon half of bleeding Europe; and put an eternal end to the pride and power of Prussian militarism.

It will insure the life of Liberty. For every baby bond—sale price $50—will do this:

Buy 14 rifle grenades, or Twenty-three hand grenades, or Trench knives for a rifle company, or

One thousand surgical needles, or Seventy hot water bags, or Thirty-seven cases of surgical instruments for enlisted men's belts, or Ten cases of the same for officers' belts, or Ten pounds of ether, or Three rifles, or
A lot of other things necessary in the field.

Don't be ashamed of the baby bond. It carries some kick.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2, and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Take from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

GIRLS, GIRLS, TRY IT! STOP DANDRUFF AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Hair Stops Falling Out and Gets Thick, Wavy, Strong and Beautiful.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandierine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandierine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandierine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes, but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Dandierine from any druggist or toilet counter for a few cents.

A campaign is on among the rural and village schools in connection with the purchase of thrift stamps, and each teacher is striving to have her pupils attain the 100 per cent class in this regard. Miss Davis and her pupils are very proud of the fact that they have attained their goal, but they are not stopping, but are continuing to save their money to keep the good work going.

DISCOURAGED

You have tried everything. It's the same old story. I hear it everyday. Your courage is gone, your faith is gone. The end would be gladly welcomed, but even that won't come. What would you give to be a well man—a well woman? What wouldn't you give? Worse cases, perhaps than yours, are yielding as if by magic to this subtle power. Why not your case? I will leave it to your intelligence and good judgment. Slaves to mock or false modesty, you deserve to suffer. 95 per cent of the supposed incurable cases could be relieved physically and mentally, if they would only confess it to a friend, family, or better, a skilled physician. Don't argue I've tried everything with no results—you may have no idea what an up-to-date electrically equipped institution really is.

IF I ONLY KNEW JUST WHAT AILS ME.

How often have you made this remark? Yet you continue to suffer, hesitating to seek aid because you consider that medical attention would be too expensive, or, perhaps, are you dissatisfied with past treatment. Remember, all the wishing, hoping and praying never cured any real physical ailment. Then, why continue to grope in the dark, suffering pain, discomfort and dissatisfaction?

An X-ray examination will cost you but one dollar and is considered by the medical profession as one of the greatest aids to a correct diagnosis. If your case is not incurable you can be treated in one of the most completely equipped offices in the Middle West. 25 years' experience.

WHAT SHOULD BE THE PUNISHMENT OF THE HUNS?

There is a good deal of talk nowadays about peace, but so far not on the part of the Allies. On the contrary, they say there must be unconditional surrender by the unspeakable Huns. And when this latter takes place, there is also talk of what then should be the punishment of the leading men who brought on and have contributed to the greatest crime of all the ages. What should be their punishment? Are they to go scott free? Surely not. He that sows the wind must expect to reap the whirlwind.

Retribution is one of the grand principles in the Divine administration of human affairs. In mythology, Nemesis is a goddess, presiding over the normal and proper order of things and visiting with retribution any derangement of the natural equilibrium. She is thus a divinity of chastisement and vengeance.

It was, indeed, a curious Nemesis under which the Iron Duke Bismarck fell, after having enjoyed for 27 years the reputation of being the world's greatest humnnt butcher under William I, when the latter's grandson William II, (the present kaiser) first came to the throne in 1888, and selected a new chancellor, to the humiliation of Bismarck.

Nemesis is a strong and threatening word, and when used towards the kaiser resembles the banquet of Damocles and the ever suspended sword. As to the kaiser, may not the words of George Eliott apply with singular fitness: "Nemesis is lame, but she is of colossal stature; and sometimes, while her sword is not yet unsheathed, she stretches out her huge left arm and grasps her victim. The mighty hand is invisible, but the victim tatters under the dice clutch."

Are we not all hoping that this fairly describes the condition of the infamous kaiser and his blood thirsty crew, as they richly deserve?

After our civil war in this country, although their offense as conspirators for the murder of President Abraham Lincoln, General U. S. Grant, Secretary of State Wm. H. Seward, and Vice-President Andrew Johnson, were as nothing in comparison to the heinous crimes of the kaiser and his cohorts, Mrs. Surret and three of her male confederates were executed. They gave their lives in retribution for their crime.

As we are not the judge or jury, we shall have to leave it to later tribunals to pass sentence on the kaiser and his cohorts.

The cowardly spirit of evil is forever telling you that bad, wicked and corrupt deeds are pardonable. But if you believe this you will find some day to your cost that it is not true. God's mill grinds slow but sure. There is everywhere the working of the everlasting law that man gets as he gives. "Be not deceived, God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND

John Ireland was no less a great citizen than a great churchman. The Archbishop took a great part in public affairs. His patriotism was shown when he hurried home from France, where he was studying, to become chaplain of a Minnesota regiment in the Civil War. If he did not so far discard the tradition of the cloth as play the part of a soldier, like the Southern Bishop, Leonidas Polk, he shared every hardship and vicissitude of the soldier's life, and on one occasion strengthened the secular arm by helping to rush ammunition to the front.

He began his work as priest with a pastorate at St. Paul, the city he was to be identified with for all his life. But purely ecclesiastical affairs did not engross his great energy. Prohibition was one cause which he had greatly at heart. Another was the union of the parochial and the public school. It was a large scheme, conceived without bigotry, but in the nature of things it could not succeed, though it was tried for a time on a small scale. The tradition of complete separation between Church and State is too deeply held to be broken. Yet Archbishop Ireland's belief that the gulf between religion and education should be bridged is that of many people. None could have had a better chance of bridging it than he, for he was esteemed and beloved by men of every creed. Whether or not it was some suspicion of "modernism" that deprived him of the Cardinal's hat need not be discussed. But every other honor which could be paid to him was his, and his death is widely and sincerely mourned.

SUGAR PRICES

Beginning September 9, the price of sugar at the refinery advanced to 9c. This will bring the retail price of sugar up to 11c for two pound sales of either bulk or carton sugar. A wider margin is allowed on two pound bulk sales because of the extra expense involved in bags, twine, labor, time and shrinkage. Carton sugar, although costing the retailer more money, does not involve the above additional expenses and must therefore be sold on a life prescribed margin of not to exceed one cent per pound.

Where sugar is sold in five pound lots to country trade or where larger sales are made on canning certificates, the retailer must sell on a margin of not to exceed 1c per pound.

As most wholesalers still have on hand approximately a month's supply, the new price will not be generally affected immediately.

All sugar, bought at the old price, must be sold on the old basis.

Very truly yours,

FRED C. CROXTON.

Federal Food Administrator for Ohio.

MOTORRAIDS

The government, in calling for the saving of gasoline, has already put the ban on Sunday automobile riding in the Eastern states and it is well for all owners to heed the call and do their best to conserve all gasoline possible.

Do not use gasoline for washing or cleaning. Use kerosene to cut the grease. Do not spill gasoline or let it drip when filling the car. It is dangerous and wasteful. Do not expose gasoline to the air as it evaporates rapidly and is dangerous. Do not allow the engine to run when the car is standing still. Cars are filled with self starters and it is good for the batteries to be used frequently. Have the carburetors adjusted to use the least gasoline possible. A lean mixture avoids carbon deposits. See that the piston rings fit tight and that the cylinders hold compression well. Leakage of compression causes loss. Stop all gasoline leakage. Form the habit of shutting off the gasoline at the tank or feed pipe. See that all bearings run freely and are well lubricated. Friction consumes power and wastes gas.

President's Address

Washington, Oct. 1.—President Wilson's speech before the United States senate yesterday urging the adoption of the woman's suffrage amendment follows:

Gentlemen of the Senate: The unusual circumstances of a world war in which we stand and are judged in the view not only of our own people and our own consciences, but also in the view of all nations and peoples, will, I hope, justify in your thought, as it does in mine, the message, I have come to bring you. I regard the concurrence of the senate in the constitutional amendment proposing the extension of the suffrage to women as vitally essential to the successful prosecution of the great war of humanity in which we are engaged. I have come to urge upon you the considerations which have led me to this conclusion.

It is not only my privilege, it is also my duty to apprise you of every circumstance and every element involved in this momentous struggle, which seems to me affects its very processes and its outcome. It is my duty to win the war and ask you to remove every obstacle that stands in the way of winning it.

I had assumed that that senate would concur in the amendment because no disputable principle is involved, but only a question of the method by which the suffrage is to be extended to women. There is and can be no party issue involved in it. Both of our national parties are pledged, explicitly pledged, to equality of suffrage for the women of the country. Neither party, therefore, it seems to me, can justify hesitation as to the method of obtaining it, can rightfully hesitate to substitute federal initiative for state initiative if the early adoption of this measure is necessary to the successful prosecution of the war and if the method platform of 1916 is impracticable within any reasonable length of time, if practicable at all. And its adoption is, to my judgment, clearly necessary to the successful prosecution of the war and the successful realization of the objectives for which the war is being fought.

That judgment I take the liberty of urging upon you with solemn earnestness for reasons which I shall state very frankly I hope will seem as conclusive to you as they seem to me.

This is a people's war and the people's thinking constitute its atmosphere and morale, not relations of the drawing room or political considerations of the causes. If we are indeed democrats and wish to lead this world to democracy, we can ask other people to accept in proof of our sincerity and our ability to lead them where they wish to be led, nothing less persuasive and convincing than our actions. Our professions will not suffice. Verification must be forthcoming when verification is asked for. And in this case verification is asked for in this particular matter. You ask by whom? Not through ministers. Not by the intimations of parliaments. It is asked for by the anxious, expectant, suffrage peoples with whom we are dealing and willing to put their destinies in some manner in our hands, if they are sure that we wish the same things that they do. I do not speak by conjecture. It is not alone the voices of statesmen and of newspapers that reach me, and the voices of foolish and intemperate agitators do not reach me at all. Through many, many channels I have been made aware that the plain, struggling work-a-day folk are thinking upon whom the chief terror and suffering of this tragic war falls. They are looking to the great, powerful, famous democracy of the west to lead them to the new day for which they have so long waited and they think in their logical simplicity that democracy means that women shall play their part in affairs as men and upon an equal footing with them. If we reject measures like this, in ignorance or defiance of what a new age has brought forth, of what they have seen but we have not they will cease to believe in us, they will cease to follow or to trust us. They have seen their own governments accept this interpretation of democracy—seen old governments like that of Great Britain, which did not profess to be democratic, promise readily and as of course this justice to women, though they had before refused it, the struggle revelations of this war having made things new and plain, to give this as well as to peoples.

"Are we alone to refuse to learn the lesson; are we alone to ask and take the utmost that our women can give—service and sacrifice of every kind—and still say we do not see what title that gives them to stand by our sides in this guidance of the affairs of their nation and ours? We have made partners of the women in this war; shall we admit them only to a partnership of suffering and sacrifice and toil and not to a partnership of privilege and right? This war could not have been fought either by the other nations engaged or by America if it had not been for the services of the women—services rendered in every sphere—not merely in the fields of efforts in which we have been accustomed to see them work, but wherever men have worked and upon the very skirts and edges of the battle itself.

"The women of America are too noble, and too intelligent and too devoted to be slackers, whether you give or withhold this thing that is mere justice; but I know the magic it will work in their thoughts and spirits if you give it to them. I propose it as I would propose to admit soldiers to the suffrage, the men fighting in the field for our liberties and the liberties of the world, were they excluded.

"That is my case. This is my appeal. Many may deny its validity, if they choose, but no one can brush aside or answer the arguments upon which it is based. The executive tasks of this war rest upon me. I ask that you lighten them and place in my hands instruments, spiritual instruments, which I do not now possess, which I sorely need and which I have daily to apologize for not being able to employ."

"THE WIFE"

A DISTRESSING WAIT AND A LAME EXPLANATION

Hour after hour Ruth sat by the window, watching, listening. Occasionally she would doze off for a few moments, tired with her hard week's work, and her long ride on the railroad. But she woke at the slightest noise. Eleven struck, then twelve. Where could Brian be? One, a quarter past. She rose and, going into the bedroom, she undressed and slipped into a wrapper. Just as the half hour struck she heard Brian's key in the door.

With an immense effort, she pulled herself together. She wouldn't blame until she knew. Once more she recalled what her aunt had said about surprises reacting upon the one who tried to give them. She should have let him know she was there.

Brian, the moment he opened the door, had sensed her presence. The faint odor of the perfume that she always used, greeted him, warning him she had arrived.

"Oh, Brian! I thought you'd never come!" she exclaimed as she rose to meet him.

"Why didn't you let me know you were coming? How's a fellow to keep track of you if he'd like to know?" and while he kissed her affectionately, his tone was impatient.

"I wanted to surprise you, dear. I finished before I expected, and thought you would be so pleased."

"Surprised yourself instead. Well come on, let's go to bed! I took a long bus ride, didn't realize it was so late."

Ruth wanted desperately to ask if he took the bus ride all alone, and she bit her lip to keep the words back. She was thankful for the dim light. Her eyes were full of tears, and she did not want Brian to see them. Like all men, he had little patience with a weeping woman.

"Have you been comfortable?" she ventured. "Has Mrs. Crawford cooked nice things for you?"

The dim lights hid from her the flush that rose to Brian's face as he replied:

"Yes, dear. I may not have to go away again for a long time. I did good work too. I know I did." She longed for understanding and sympathy, "and it won't be long before they will see I am worth even more than they are paying me."

"Then you can crow over me still more!" Brian returned, yet thinking he hoped she had some money left; he had spent all he had.

"Don't Brian! Don't tonight!" now her voice was full of tears.

"Alright, I'll be good," and then they kissed and "made friends," as Brian affectionately expressed it.

But in the night Ruth was awakened by Brian talking in his sleep.

"You're a good girl, Mollie!" he muttered, then after a moment, "Not many girls as popular as you—" Ruth waited, scarcely breathing, so fearful was she he would stop, "would spend so many evenings with—he waited longer this time, "an old married man," he finished.

So her fears had not been groundless after all. He had been with Mollie King, and—she had said "so many evenings." Perhaps he had been with her every night. No wonder he had no time to write to her.

Bitterness filled her heart. She was working for his comfort as well as her own. She had no thought but to share all with him. And he, he was spending his time with Mollie King while she was hard at work to improve their condition.

For the first time came the thought. Brian hadn't much money. Perhaps that was why he had borrowed of Clark that time when she went to Philadelphia. To take Mollie King out. He mustn't do that again. She would ask him in the morning if he was out of money. She must use tact about it, or he would get angry again. But she must prevent him borrowing.

She had quite a little left over from her salary and all she saved from that she was allowed for expense money. A very generous allowance it was too.

She slept no more that night. At breakfast she said:

"If you have been eating out Brian, it must have cost you a lot. I didn't begin to spend my expense money. I had no heart to do anything all alone, so I went to bed, all but one evening. Then I went to a show," she talked fast so he wouldn't interrupt. "There's twenty dollars until you get some in." Then, as he hesitated to take it, "you have almost saved it on the living. Crawford couldn't have used much of that I left her only getting breakfasts."

"That's all!" and convinced he could take it without a blow to his dignity, Brian put it hurriedly into his pocket. "You see Ruth I took Mollie out to dinner with me. You know how I hate to eat alone, and it costs something to buy grub nowadays."

they kissed and "made friends," as Brian affectionately expressed it.

But in the night Ruth was awakened by Brian talking in his sleep.

"You're a good girl, Mollie!" he muttered, then after a moment, "Not many girls as popular as you—" Ruth waited, scarcely breathing, so fearful was she he would stop, "would spend so many evenings with—he waited longer this time, "an old married man," he finished.

So her fears had not been groundless after all. He had been with Mollie King, and—she had said "so many evenings." Perhaps he had been with her every night. No wonder he had no time to write to her.

Bitterness filled her heart. She was working for his comfort as well as her own. She had no thought but to share all with him. And he, he was spending his time with Mollie King while she was hard at work to improve their condition.

For the first time came the thought. Brian hadn't much money. Perhaps that was why he had borrowed of Clark that time when she went to Philadelphia. To take Mollie King out. He mustn't do that again. She would ask him in the morning if he was out of money. She must use tact about it, or he would get angry again. But she must prevent him borrowing.

She had quite a little left over from her salary and all she saved from that she was allowed for expense money. A very generous allowance it was too.

PETEY DINK

We Must Furnish the Spade" — Billy Sunday

By REV. WILLIAM A. SUNDAY

Uncle Sam's Liberty war chest needs filling again!

We have the cash to fill it as many times as he lifts the lid.

There are only two horns to this dilemma—you are either a patriot or a traitor.

The men on the firing line and on the battle-ships have turned from business, home, mother, wife, children, and they stand ready to give their lives and shield with their bodies us who remain at home.

We are unworthy to be thus protected, if we do not do our utmost to sustain them.

We must be one in our determination to win this war. We are traitors to the cause for which they are giving their lives, if we do things here that make their efforts harder.

Life is not worth living unless there is something to live for. Life would not be worth living if that bunch of Heinies should win.

That is why they cannot win. That is why we cannot lose.

What a mountain of crime God has on his books against that horde of Hellish Huns. What grave is deep enough for this thousand-armed, thousand-footed, thousand-headed, thousand-horned, thousand-fanged pirate of the air, assassin of the seas, despoiler of the earth and ambassador of Hell!

The army and navy will dig the grave, but we must furnish the spade.

Our boys will soon hang crape on the door of the Potsdam Palace, and the bands will play Yankee-Doodle and Dixie along the Rhine.

Uncle Sam is the cactus in the Kaiser's pillow.

Our Boys have gone over to clean up on that fool bunch of Huns and it is up to us to supply them with whatever they need to finish the job. It takes money to keep the riveters riveting—the sawyers sawing—the machine guns spitting bullets and the grub wagon always on hand with the eats. There is nothing too good for our brave defenders.

Our vocabulary contains no words adequate to express our approval of the achievements of our government since we threw our hat in the ring. We are rich on top of the ground; we are rich under the ground and our rivers creep like silver serpents to the seas, bearing our products.

The children of England, France, Italy and Belgium are laughing once more because they are being fed from Uncle Sam's bakeshop. One carload of meat every two minutes, one hog out of every four, nine million pounds of meat a day—all going over to feed our boys. We are in this scrap to the last dollar, the last grain of wheat, the last day.

We will never stop until Germany dips her dirty blood-stained rag to the Stars and Stripes. It's a whale of a job we've tackled, but we can and must put it over.

But you must help.

Don't whine. Don't knock. You can't saw wood with a hammer. Don't turn the hose on the fire; add fuel.

KENIA GOES ON STRICT SUGAR RATION TODAY

Xenia and surrounding villages went on a strict sugar ration today. The sugar card system, administered by a committee of grocers, of which E. Norckauer is chairman, will from this time until the end of the year be in force here. The cards are printed and are in the hands of Mr. Norckauer, who is now engaged in distributing them to the grocers. He asks that any grocer who has not received his cards by Monday evening call at his store and secure his allotment. The use of these cards will make it possible for the grocers to protect themselves against unscrupulous people who have made a practice of evading the spirit of the food laws. While it has been pointed out again and again that a consumer who evades the food laws is just as disloyal as the dealer who evades the law, many have continued the practice. The card system will cut them off short. Hereafter, a family may secure more than two pounds of sugar per person per month and not more than two pounds can be purchased at one time by any consumers or five pounds at one time by country consumers. The cards will be issued by all grocers and will bear the name of the holder and the number on the family and the date the card is issued. Each card will be good for three months and can be used at any store in the city. When a purchase of sugar is made, the grocer will punch the card, and when the family allowance is punched out that family can get no more sugar until the next month. In order to guard against dishonest consumers who may try to secure more than one card, the committee of grocers has provided a checking up system which will make it possible to detect anyone who tries to beat the system. It has been decided by the committee that any family caught evading the spirit of the card system will be penalized by being deprived of sugar for a month.

YOUNG GIRL IS TENDERLY LAID TO LAST LONG REST

Surrounded by flowers, which almost filled the room in which the casket reposed, the body of Miss Elsie Schardt lay at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schardt, on Bellbrook avenue, during the funeral services which were held Monday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Hanshue of Dayton, former pastor of the dead girl in this city, and whose church she attended in Dayton, conducted the service. He gave a beautiful funeral discourse. There was no music with the service. Bearing the body to its grave in Woodland were the two brothers and four cousins of the young girl; Carl and Ralph Schardt, Earl and Robert Collier, Bert and Paul Schardt. Friends of Miss Schardt from Dayton, including a number who had worked with her at the factory at Moraine City, attended the service. There were also several floral tributes from her fellow employees at the airplane factory. Relatives who came from Dayton for the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schardt, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Schardt, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Beacham.

ONE MONTH AFTER GOING TO CAMP HE WILL BE LAID TO REST

One month to the day, from the date he went to Camp Sherman to become a part of the army training there, Private Robert E. Weddle will be laid to his last long rest. The body of the young soldier who succumbed to bronchial pneumonia at the Camp Sherman base hospital, Sunday afternoon, arrived in Xenia, Monday night, and was taken to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Weddle on East Third street. Funeral services will be held at St. Bridget's Church, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, and interment will be made in Woodland cemetery. Private Weddle went to Camp Sherman September 3. He had never had the opportunity of making a return visit home.

NOT DUE TO SEX ALONE

Xenia Women Have Learned The Cause of Many Mysterious Pains and Aches, Many women have come to know that sex isn't the reason for all back-aches, dizzy headaches and urinary disorders. Men have these troubles, too, and often they come from kidney weakness. To live simply, eat sparingly, take better care of one's self and to use Doan's Kidney Pills, is bound to help had kidneys get better. There is no other remedy so well-recommended by Xenia people. Read this case: Mrs. A. C. Davis, Home Ave., Xenia, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have surely been fine when we have used them. My kidney trouble has been a weakness in my back and sharp pains through it. When I bent over, I could hardly straighten. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I bought at Donges' Drug Store, soon cured me and I haven't had any kidney trouble since, so I am sure the cure is permanent." Price 60c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Davis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

PARCEL SHOWER FOR MISS REVA HUSTON

Mrs. Ertis Huston, Mrs. Ray Huston and Mrs. Rass Huston, were hostesses at a parcel shower at the home of Mrs. Ertis Huston for the pleasure of Miss Reva Huston, a favorite bride-elect. The afternoon was enjoyed by fifty women. Much pleasure was derived by the guests from writing receipts which were presented to the bride for her new cook book. In a guessing contest which the guests indulged in, the prize, a bon bon dish, was given to the bride by the winner, Mrs. Charles Fudge. The ice cream, cake and punch served, carried out the yellow and white color arrangement. Dainty bon bon baskets were the favors. Many pretty gifts of china, cut glass, silverware and aluminum were received by Miss Huston, whose marriage to Norman Leach will be celebrated Thursday evening, October 3.

MANY INTERESTING SUBJECTS DISCUSSED AT CLUB MEETING

One of the most enthusiastic and best attended meetings ever held in the Xenia Business Men's Association rooms occurred Monday evening. While the meeting was arranged for the purpose of giving everyone a chance to kick on any subject under the sun it did not develop into a "kick-fest," although there was considerable criticism of a constructive nature. The speakers of the evening were John R. Patterson, Alex. Finlay, City Manager Riddle, John W. Prugh and Judge H. L. Smith. The subjects presented by these speakers furnished food for an interesting round table discussion in which a number of those present took part.

Mr. Patterson made the opening address on the subject "A Big Small Town." Mr. Patterson is an eloquent and forceful speaker and his audience thoroughly enjoyed his remarks. He did not refer to any particular town or city in his address but enlarged on his subject in a general way. He said that a town is not big or little because of the size of its population but because of the bigness or littleness of its spirit. "There are many big little towns and many little big towns in this country," he said. He said that Xenia has the making of a "big little town" and said that he had noticed many evidences of this since he came to Xenia.

Mr. Finlay spoke briefly about the club membership and stated that he, as chairman of the membership committee, will start a drive for new members at once.

The water question which at present is uppermost in the minds of the people of Xenia, was ably presented by City Manager Riddle, who gave the audience the benefit of his careful investigation of the situation. Mr. Riddle advocates public ownership of the water company and presented figures to prove that the water system, if publicly owned, could be operated in such a way that the amount of money derived from the advanced water rates which are sure to come, if applied to purchase of the system would pay for it in thirty years. He pointed out that the water company engineers declare a 100 per cent increase is fair and said that the city engineers had agreed that a 50 per cent increase was fair. Therefore when the rate is finally fixed by the Public Utilities Commission it is sure to be at least 50 per cent higher than the present rate.

Several of those present expressed themselves as favoring public ownership of the water company in the discussion which followed. Dr. Grube, city health officer, who was present took occasion to defend his position in connection with the typhoid fever epidemic. He said he had been criticized for not branding the city water as impure and declared that if he had thought it was impure he would have announced it from the house tops. He said that he had been connected with the health department of Xenia for twelve years and was on the State Board of Health for two years and that in that time he had repeatedly tested the city water and at no time found it contaminated with dangerous bacilli. He said that the result of the recent test made in Columbus had not yet reached him, but was confident that when it did come it would prove the same as previous tests. He admitted that there was a degree of danger in pumping water from an open reservoir and he expressed himself as favorable to public ownership of the water system. C. S. Frazer made the statement that he had visited the water works plant Monday and he made the positive statement that the company has no pipes leading to Old Town run and that there is no evidence that the company has pumped water from that stream in several years. Several years ago it had a permit to pump from that stream and did use it for one or two years. A committee will be named to confer with the city government about the matter of buying the city water system.

John W. Prugh spoke on the subject of "Local Patriotism." He declared that no city in the country is more patriotic in responding to Liberty Loan, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and other war calls than is Xenia, but that it is woefully lacking in expressing its patriotism in other ways. He demanded to know why Xenia streets are devoid of flags and stated that men from other cities had often remarked to him "What's the matter with this town. Don't you know there is a war going on." He warmly lambasted the men who go along the street at 5 o'clock in the evening when taps are sounded and fail to remove their hats. "When taps are sounded take off your hat and stand at attention, and if the man in front of you does not know enough to do likewise tell him so. He will thank you for it," Mr. Prugh said.

The meeting was closed with a magnificent Liberty loan appeal by Judge H. L. Smith, chairman of the drive in this country. Judge Smith paid his respects to the "financial slackers" and he handled them without gloves. "Plain facts," was his subject. He handed out the facts without a sugar coating. "These plain facts relate to the plain slacker," he said, "and I do not refer to the young boy who tries to avoid the draft. There are bigger slackers right here in Greene county than the boy who runs away from camp. You all know men who have plenty of money and do not buy Liberty bonds, help the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. etc. They are the 'prime slackers' and are more despicable than the worst soldier slacker who ever lived." He called attention to the slacker who at the early age of 45 or 50 years turns over his farm or business to his boy to leave that boy out of war and then sits back and profits and gives nothing to help in the war. He told of another man who owns a 1,000 acre farm who bought a $100 Liberty bond in the last campaign and then sentimentally said: "We all have to do our bit." Such men as these will be smoked out in the present campaign and if they fail to do their full duty they will be re-named on a yellow "slacker card," which will be kept on record to mark them down through the generations as dirty, contemptible, yellow slackers. "When the boys come marching home, God Almighty pity you if you have not done your part here at home," Judge Smith feelingly declared in conclusion.

"Semper fidelis," announced the hobo. "Dat's me," "Sic semper," chirped the head of the house, and the bulldog promptly responded.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE IS GOING ALONG SMOOTHLY

The Liberty Loan drive in Greene County is progressing smoothly with workers "hard at it" in every part of the county.

The official report up to 3 o'clock Monday evening was $88,000. It is estimated that by noon Tuesday the county had passed the $100,000 mark, or in other words has gone one-eighth of the distance to the goal. It is not expected that there will be any "grand stand" developments in the county, but everyone connected with the drive is confident that Greene County will go over the top without difficulty.

The people of the county are called upon to make up their minds at once how many bonds they are going to buy—and be sure you make up your mind to buy all you are able to buy—so that the collectors need not make a return trip.

A series of meetings in the county have been arranged as follows: Thursday evening, October 3rd, Bellbrook. October 4th, Spring Valley. October 7th, Beavercreek High School. October 8th, Yellow Springs. October 10th, Osborn. October 11th, Bowersville. October 12th, Jamestown.

Joseph E. Derbes and Leon P. Earl of Cincinnati have been secured to address four of these meetings. The speaker for the other two meetings has not yet been assigned.

A Liberty Loan Glee Club of 15 voices that has just been organized here, will sing at each of these meetings.

MANY FRIENDS ATTEND FUNERAL OF THORNHILL JACK

With many friends in attendance, and a profusion of floral tributes of affection and respect from friends surrounding the casket, funeral services for Thornhill Jack were held at the home of his mother, Mrs. Emma Jack on South Detroit street.

The Rev. Homer C. Biddlecum of the Friends church conducted the service, and gave a very consoling discourse. The music of the service was furnished by the Victrola, which played two hymns "Abide With Me," and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

There were floral tributes from the Eagles and Woodmen of the World, and three pieces from The Xenia Shoe Company and the employees at the factory. The pallbearers were: Harry, John, Oliver and Theodore Jack, Earl Lawson and Clyde Smith. Among the friends from out of the city who came for the service were: Charles Jack and family; Mrs. Hattie Jack and Mrs. Burton, of Dayton; Joseph Thornhill and family of Coaltown; Mrs. Frankie Dunham and Warren Jack and family of Lebanon.

BRIEF ILLNESS ENDS IN DEATH OF YOUNG GREENE CO. SOLDIER

After a very brief illness of influenza which developed into pneumonia John Roy Frame, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frame of the Clifton and Wilberforce road, died at the Naval Training Station at Hampton Roads, Va., at 9:30 Monday morning.

His mother and sister, who started for Hampton Roads, Sunday afternoon as soon as they learned of his critical illness, had not reached him before he died.

The young man enlisted in the navy last summer. The illness which caused his death developed very rapidly, as a letter received from him a day or two ago by Ralph George of Jamestown, said that he was in good health. Private Frame was 21 years old, and prior to his enlistment, had been employed as a clerk in the store of Jenkins and Turnbull at Cedarville. The body will be shipped home, and funeral announcement will be made later.

XENIA MERCHANTS ASKED TO CLOSE FOR BAND CONCERT

Xenia merchants are requested to close their places of business for one hour from 12:30 to 1:30 Wednesday afternoon, while the concert boosting the fourth Liberty Loan is being given by the Great Lakes Naval Training Station Band.

It is hoped that people listening to the concert will show more patriotism than many of them did while the concerts was being given here by the same band last spring. At that time, most of the men stood with heads covered while the national anthem of the country was being played.

While this was due in great part no doubt to thoughtlessness and not lack of patriotism, it shows want of proper respect, and gives a bad impression to strangers. Heads should be uncovered when the national anthems of our allied countries are being played as well as when "The Star Spangled Banner," is rendered.

Miss Helena Geneva Thompson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Thompson, died at 1:15 this morning. She had been sick for about a year with lung trouble. She was 22 years old. She lived with her parents at Wilberforce, O. Funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, either at Galloway hall or at the residence. Burial will be in Stevenson cemetery.

TRAINING SCHOOL FORMALLY OPENS AT WILBERFORCE

Wilberforce University dismissed school today to participate in the patriotic demonstration for the opening of the Students' Army Training Corps of the United States Army, which took place at ten o'clock, in front of the headquarters at the barracks of Battery B, and the air was filled with the voices of four hundred students as they sang patriotic songs in keeping with the occasion.

Captain W. E. Ostermaier was in full charge, assisted by Lieutenants Percival P. Piner of Washington, D. C., and Merrill H. Curtis, of Columbus, Ohio, who have been detailed by the War Department to give instruction to one hundred and fifty young men in the barracks established in Shorter Hall.

At the designated hour the men who have been at the camp under Captain Ostermaier in full uniform, accompanied by the young men of the S. A. T. C., faculty and students, assembled on the parade ground and joined in singing several patriotic songs, while the flag was raised, at the same time the proper salute was given.

Sergeant Alfred J. Warshaw read the order of the day. This was followed by the reading of the President's message by Lieutenant Piper. The principal address was delivered by President W. S. Scarborough, stating that in keeping with the War Department the students and faculty had gathered to show their gratitude to the government for the occasion whereby young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one might be trained for the duties of the hour, and if necessary go to the front and fight for universal democracy. "The colored men have always been patriotic," declared President Scarborough, "their fathers and grandfathers took part in all of the great battles for the preservation of the country. President Wilson has shown his wisdom and foresight in that he has made provision for the education of the colored youth and we are more than grateful to him for his interest, and especially do three million Negroes rally to his support when he issued his edict against lynching."

Superintendent William A. Joiner, who has taken unusual interest in the men since the first detachment was sent for training, and who has delivered several war addresses to the men, spoke at length and complimented the men now in training and assured the officers in charge that the young men soon to enter the school would keep up the usual standard of the university in making records for war work.

Dutch Windmill.

A Dutch windmill of giant proportions stands in Golden Gate park in San Francisco. It is said to be the largest in the world. Even in Holland, the land of windmills, it is said, there is not one that comes up to its size. It is 86 feet high; its wings have a radius of 57 feet. In a 30-mile breeze it pumps 70,000 gallons an hour through a 12-inch pipe, which carries the water to a distance of two miles and a height of 200 feet. It was a gift to San Francisco from her leading citizens, and cost $25,000.

It is really surprising how many druggists not only sell and recommend Pepsinco, but take it themselves. They have so many customers tell of the good it has done them, that it is hard to resist the temptation to take it themselves.
